	Guidance for Industry

Guidance for Industry

Revised Preventive Measures to Reduce the Possible Risk of Transmission of Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease (CJD) and Variant Creutzfeldt-Jakob Disease (vCJD) by Blood and Blood Products.

To Whom it May Concern:

Blood Systems, Inc. is pleased to have the opportunity to comment on the Center for Biologics Evaluation and Research's draft guidance document of August 2001.

Section IV.B.

The guidance document states that whole blood donors should be asked questions 1, 2 and 3 at each donation to identify donors at an increased risk for CJD.

We recommend that the guidance document exempts establishments with approved abbreviated donor screening methods, administered to frequent repeat donors (FRD), from the above requirements when pertinent information can be captured through other questions.

For example, a FRD who denied history of CJD at prior donations, is expected to answer positively had he developed CJD since his last donation when asked: "Since your last blood donation, have you had any new medical conditions or health problems?" The same question will identify donors who have had a medical condition requiring treatment with dura matter.

Section IV.D.

We suggest that FDA consider limiting Phase I deferrals to cumulative time spent in U.K., deferral for military personnel, civilian military personnel, and their dependents, and for recipients of transfusion in the U.K.

Section IV.D.

Similar to Section IV.B, above, the guidance document states that whole blood donors should be questioned at each donation to identify those at increased risk for exposure to BSE. However, the guidance allow blood establishments to ask donors once, for questions 1-3 in Phase I, because these deferral questions encompass a discrete time frame.

We recommend that the guidance document exempts establishments with approved abbreviated donor screening methods, administered to frequent repeat donors, from the above requirements when pertinent information can be captured through other questions.

97D-0318

C 22

For example, an eligible FRD who has not been outside the United States or Canada since his last blood donation would be expected to answer negatively to question 4 and 5 in section IV.D.

In addition we enclose an alternative donor screening algorithm as part of the Uniform Donor Health Questionnaire (UDHQ) for your consideration (Attachment 1). Attachment 2 demonstrates the feasibility of the Abbreviated Donor Health Questionnaire in identifying donors at risk for exposure to BSE.

Section IV.D. Question 1):

It is noted that Gibraltar and the Falkland Islands have been added to the United Kingdom territories with geographic risk of BSE exposure.

We request that the final guidance document address the geographic risk of BSE exposure in the following UK territories: Bermuda, British Virgin Islands, Anguilla, Cayman Islands, Turks and Caicos Islands, Pitcairn Island and Saint Helena Island. This assumes that as British territories their primary source of beef comes from imports, restricted in source to the U.K.

Thank you for the opportunity to comment. If you have any questions, please contact me at (480) 675-5458.

Yours truly.

Thomas B. Wiltbank, M.D. Corporate Medical Director
